

UK Gender Pay Gap

2023

UK Gender Pay Gap Background

UK companies with 250 or more employees are legally required to calculate and report their gender pay gap data. This is our first year of mandatory reporting. Our data covers all UK employees of Aucto, LTD d/b/a BeyondTrust Corporation. For this reporting period, we had a mean pay gap of 10 percent.

The gender wage gap is a measure of what women are paid relative to men based on average hourly wage. This is not the same as unequal pay.

The most valuable resource at BeyondTrust is its team. At BeyondTrust, employees are compensated in ways that reward contribution, encourage growth, and align pay to the market for their role.

We are committed to hiring and nurturing diverse talent, as well as providing opportunities for career growth and leadership to all of our employees. We strongly believe in creating an exceptional employee experience where all employees feel connected to the success of the company, have a sense of belonging at work, and are supported in their personal and professional goals.

While there is a gender pay gap, we are confident that we do not have an equal pay issue. Our approach to compensation is gender neutral by design and our frequent analysis of pay levels for comparable roles at BeyondTrust indicate that men and women are paid fairly for similar roles. The pay gap is driven more by the structure of our workforce in the UK. We are committed to doing everything within our control to reduce the gap.
